

Toshiba Strata CIX Office Phone Systems

The Strata CIX family includes the CIX1200, CIX670, CIX200, CIX100, CIX100S & CIX40 IP (Internet Protocol) systems that provide sophisticated business communication features for businesses of all sizes. These systems deliver on the promise of IP telephony by providing all the features and benefits of our traditional business communications systems on a converged IP platform. With the Strata CIX, you have a choice of mixing and matching technologies, creating a pure IP system or a converged solution, and changing based on the needs of your company.

The Strata CIX IP business communications system can provide pure IP peer-to-peer functionality, offers new FeatureFlex ™ adaptability capabilities, and provides a smooth migration path from most Toshiba Strata CTX systems with a processor upgrade.

Users of older Strata DK or current Strata CTX systems can also migrate to the new Strata CIX, using much of their existing equipment including Toshiba 2000 and 3000 series digital telephones, trunk & station interface cards, option cards and Stratagy voice mail, which allows them to retain much of their initial investment in the system.
